All Republican Incumbents Involved in Primaries Apparent Winners

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Sept. 13.—The three republican incumbent senators involved in Tuesday's eight state primaries overcame strong opposition by apparently safe margins, according to incomplete returns available today.

Senator Townsend of Michigan led the nearest of his three opponents, Herbert F. Baker, by 22,205 with the vote approximately two-thirds complete.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts rolled a majority of more than 126,600 over Joseph Walker with returns from 1,334 election precincts out of 1,407.

Senator Pindexter of Washington led the nearest of his five opponents, George Lamping of Seattle, by 3,154 on returns fifteen percent complete. Mrs. Frances C. Axtell was fourth in this race.

Wh. E. Sweet of Denver had a big lead over Fred A. Gabin in the Democratic gubernatorial race in Colorado while Benjamin Griffith of Denver led Lieutenant Governor Earl Cooley for the Republican nomination. Congressman C. C. Timberlake apparently had won renomination in the second district.

Redfield Proctor of Proctor was apparently certain of victory over Lieutenant Governor W. P. Foote in the Vermont Republican gubernatorial contest. Senatorial candidates were unopposed.

Former Governor Cole L. Blance was defeated for the Democratic nomination for governor of South Carolina by Thomas C. McLeod in a bitter contest.

Supporters of Charles B. Ward and former Governor G. P. Hunt of Arizona both were claiming victory in the race for Democratic nomination for Governor of Arizona, with meager returns indicating a close race. Governor Campbell is unopposed for renomination and Senator Ashurst Democratic also had no opposition for renomination.

In the Massachusetts gubernatorial contest, Governor Cox had an easy victory for the republican nomination. William A. Gaston, Boston banker, was well in the lead for the Democratic senatorial nomination in late returns.

Governor Groesbeck of Michigan easily defeated two opponents for renomination while James Balch had a small lead over Alva M. Cummings in early returns for the democratic nomination.

Congressman H. G. Duper of the Second Louisiana district had a substantial majority in early returns.

Senator Chas. E. Townsend's lead over Herbert F. Baker for the republican senatorial nomination was increased to more than 24,000 today on the face of additional returns from yesterday's statewide primary.

With reports from 2,010 out of the 2,856 precincts in the state the vote stood: Townsend 110,854; Baker 86,750; Kelley 50,354; Emery 41,828.

$25,000 LOOT IN ROBBERY

(By the Associated Press)
Minneapolis, Sept. 13.—Two young men, posing as customers, held up A. E. Fragel's jewelry store here today and vanished with diamonds and jewelry valued at $25,000.

The description of the jewelry bandits, police said, correspond with that of two of the four bandits who yesterday held up the St. Anthony Park Bank in St. Paul, escaping with $4,000.

Detectives who reached the scene of today's holdup shortly after it occurred were unable to find any trace of the robbers in the downtown traffic.

Minneapolis, Sept. 13.—The holdup was coolly executed and apparently had been carefully planned. The two men entered the store and asked to be shown watches and diamonds. Suddenly they flashed pistols on the proprietor and a young woman assisting, scooped up about 150 watches and the contents of three diamond trays and fled.

LABOR UNIONS SEEK POOL TO SWING VOTES

American Federation's Non-partisan Political Committee in Session

(By the Associated Press)
Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 13.—With the arrival of James O'Connell, chairman of the American Federation of Labor's nonpartisan political committee, the executive council of the federation in annual session prepared to devise a program of political activity with which it proposes to enter local, state and national polls at forthcoming elections. Members of the council predict that labor will designate at least fifty nonpartisan candidates for seats now occupied by National senators and representatives who, they declare, are opposed to the aims and ideals of the American Federation of Labor.

That the federation will attempt an affiliation with the farmer vote, to become an important factor in the presidential campaign of 1924 is a forgone conclusion among the labor chiefs here. They declare that their selection of a candidate for the presidency will be a startling surprise to followers of the old parties.

The shop crafts strike and the injunction obtained by Attorney General Daugherty continue to be all absorbing topics of discussion between sessions of the executive council. Although it has agreed to take a cut in his throat after his attempt to take his own life last night.

No charges have yet been filed against him. Doctors in attendance say he will probably live.

Dinello told police of Kansas City, Kansas, how his two daughters had displeased him by staying out late at night. Some money he had in the house was missing, he said, and when the rest of the family was gone he took the two girls to the chicken shed to question them about it. He became angry, he said, at their replies to his questions and finally hit the younger daughter on the head with a hammer. The other daughter attempted to run away, but he caught her and killed her with the same weapon.

After dark he returned to the chicken shed and tied the girls' bodies in gunny sacks after which he carried them to the bridge and dropped them into the Kaw river.

Constantinople, Sept. 13.—The occupation of Brusse by the Turkish Nationalists which occurred last evening marks the end of the Greek resistance in Asia Minor. Before evacuating the city the Greeks set ablaze in several places but the fire was brought under control and only a single quarter of the town was destroyed.

At Andrinople, the port of Brusse, which the Turks now have occupied, French troops were landed to protect the French establishments.

The Greeks say they expect to remove these troops to home ports direct from the peninsula.

The Turkish Nationalists have really taken few prisoners, the Greeks here claim, but they admit that many units are not accounted for and that these probably are wandering in the region between Smyrna and Aivalis, some sixty miles to the north of Smyrna, and Smyrna and Scala Nova, to the south.

MRS. HARDING SHOWS CONTINUED IMPROVEMENT IN HEALTH THE CRISIS IN ILLNESS HAVING PASSED

(By the Associated Press)

Washington, Sept. 13.—Indications at the White House today were that Mrs. Harding was continuing to show the same favorable progress toward recovery which brought expressions of confidence from attending physicians yesterday and, last night, that the crisis of her illness had been passed. In view of this improvement, the question of an operation at this time was no longer under consideration today, definitely announced having been for the first time late yesterday that surgical relief would not be necessary, at present.

The last official bulletin on Mrs. Harding's condition issued at 7:30 o'clock last night said that "unless unforeseen exacerbations arise, all consultants feel that the immediate crisis of the case has been passed."

The bulletin also stated that in view of the decrease in complications which might have required surgical procedure, Dr. Charles Mayo, who was called in consultation on the surgical aspects of the case, had departed for home yesterday, as had also Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, who will return Friday. This left in attendance on the patient today with Brigadier General C. E. Sawyer, White House physician, Dr. Geo. T. Hardinge of Columbus, the president's brother, and Dr. Joel T. Boone, medical officer on the Mayflower, the presidential yacht.

WHEAT PRICES CONSIDERED AT MEETING

Business Men and Farmers Gathering in Fargo for Governor's Conference

D., Sept. 13.—Business men and farmers, managers of elevators and mills, representatives of farm organizations and others familiar with grain marketing and transportation from all parts of North Dakota were assembling here early this morning to participate in the conference called by Governor R. The conference is scheduled to commence at 10 o'clock.

The conference was called by the governor last week when he sent out between 50 and 100 invitations to meet with him at Fargo "for the purpose of considering the grain marketing problem in all its phases and to arrive at some solution thereof if any can be found."

GRAIN REPORTS OF NORTHWEST HELD TOO BIG

"Check off Durum" in Crop Reports Is Demand Being Voiced by Many Experts

GIVES FALSE IMPRESSION

North Dakota Crop, While It Reaches Huge Total, Is Below That of 1915

WHEAT REPORTS

What about wheat?

The question of the trend of prices, uppermost in the minds of most North Dakotans, has resulted in efforts to gather far-reaching information concerning the future.

One demand now being made is that U. S. crop reports be changed to differentiate between hard spring wheat and durum wheat.

Spring wheat, as the world of trade understands the term, means a hard wheat suitable for grinding into bread flour. But spring wheat, as the government uses the term, means that and something else.

When the Government reports that the yield of spring wheat in the Northwest this year is over 200 million bushels, it includes that estimate something like 80 million bushels of durum wheat—which is not suitable for flour-making, and most of which is exported.

What the Government ought to say, in the opinion of many knowing the situation, is that the Northwest has raised 120 million bushels of spring wheat and 80 million bushels of durum wheat.

Check Off Durum

Spring wheat and durum ought not to be competitors in the market, since they do not at all compete in the mill, it is declared.

The result of the jumping-of spring wheat and durum wheat, gives such a large yield report as to be depressing upon the market.

Spring wheat prospects in North Dakota as of September 1 is estimated by the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture, Division of Crop Estimates, as follows: 87 per cent of normal, against 56 per cent a year ago and a 10-year average of 66, and forecasts a production of 118,044,000 bushels, compared with a forecast of 103,153,000 bushels on August 1, and 72,264,000, the final estimate of 1921 and 65,354,000 for the five year (1916-20) average.

There is no differentiation in different kinds of spring wheat in this report.

Although the yield is large this year the U. S. Bureau reports that it still falls considerably below the big crop year of 1915. The harvest report for 1917 was about 98 per cent while for 1922 it is 87 per cent.

U. S. Bureau's View

The U. S. Bureau of Agriculture has the following to say relative to the future trend of wheat:

In the first place, nobody knows just what the prices are going to do. The best that any of us can do is to get together all the available information and base our individual decisions thereon.

"It appears that Europe has in the current crop about 100 million bushels less wheat than she had last year. Well-informed men think it possible that Western Europe may buy more wheat than last year, but doubt that they will buy enough more to make up all of this shortage. Long milling—that is—grinding into bread flour of a larger share of the whole wheat kernel—and substitution of coarse grains and potatoes may make up some of the difference.

"The latest statistics compiled in this bureau are as follows: These figures (given in round thousands of bushels) include estimates, and must be taken as only roughly indicative and of course subject to later revisions:

(In thousands of bushels)

1921 1922

Production. Estimate.

Europe 1,238,256 1,100,659

U. S., Canada and Brit. 1,851,031 1,492,320

Other countries 125,785 93,635

"The foregoing figures apply to the Northern Hemisphere. Reports estimate that Argentine seeding, which is now about complete, will be slightly higher than last year.

"Thus when we cast up all of the totals, about all that can be safely said is that the whole situation is apparently closely balanced, and the Argentine and Australian crops next winter may be large factors either way. What Europe can do in the matter of financing large purchases we do not yet know. Exports are not starting off as heavily as in some other years.

"Informed men appear to think that the present price of wheat is low, but that the basis for a very marked rise in the near future has yet to be developed."

C. W. Burton, leading Wall Street editor, says: "I wouldn't give Henry Ford $10 a week as a financial reporter, but I would agree to get him a job at any time at more than $1,000,000 a year as factory manager."

For each man there is some one job for him which he is better fitted than anyone else. People are forever being told to "work hard."

More important is to find the work for which they are best fitted. Unless they find it, they can never hope for spectacular success any more than square pegs will fit into round holes.

BRIDGE WILL BE DEDICATED TO THE STATE

Dedication to Take Place at 3 o'clock Monday

The new vehicular bridge across the Missouri river between Bismarck and Mandan—named the North Dakota Liberty Memorial bridge in honor of the state's soldiers in the World War—will be dedicated to the people of the state of North Dakota, it was announced today by a joint committee of Bismarck and Mandan citizens in charge of the bridge celebration.

Governor R. A. Nestos will accept the bridge in the name of the people of the state, since it was built with state aid and is a connecting link in traffic from east to west in the state.

Preceding the dedication at 3 p. m. Monday, September 18, there will be an industrial parade of citizens of Mandan and Bismarck, with numerous floats, which will pass over a routine the two cities of about 12 miles. The dedicatory exercises will be held on the bridge, the meeting point of citizens of the two cities.

COLDER

Goose-bone weather prophets begin to be heard from. First prediction, and it's for a cold winter, comes from the Yakima Indians near Wapato, Wash. Winter will be cold and long, they say, because flies and other insects have been unusually numerous.

Weather bureaut experts claim that the amateur prophets usually are wrong. But when the squirrel lays away lots of nuts, and tree bark and fox fur are thick, ignore the experts and bet on a hard winter. What makes the squirrel know enough to stock heavily with food? What makes trees prepare months ahead, by growing heavy bark? Is nature merely a chemical machine?

For instance, a recent survey showed that a family's standard of living that cost $1517 a year in Chippewa Falls, Wis., could not be duplicated under $1919 in Bisbee, Ariz.

Obviously, it is futile to attempt to set figures as a "living wage" nationally regardless of geography.

PRICES

A penny here, a dollar there, prices creep up again. Hard for the head of the family to determine what is a fair price.

Traveling men still are talking about an honest merchant in Waco, Tex., who, during the 1919 boom, labeled an article in his window: "Formerly 49 cents. Now $2.50."

RADIO

About 100,000 apartments in New York City now are equipped with radio receiving sets, according to a trade estimate.

One radio maker has orders for 25,000 wireless receivers that can be operated only by dropping a quarter in slot. The day is close at hand when all rooms in first-class hotels will have these slot machines, says the Messenger, hotel trade paper.

As they march into eternity, one of their strongest impressions must be that the Union they saved has not turned out exactly as they expected. The flag is about the only thing that hasn't changed beyond recognition.

COUNTY AGENT WORK JOINED IN NEW PLAN

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 13.—After January 1, 1923 the county agricultural agent, club agent and home demonstration agent will be no more in North Dakota, and their places will be taken by the "county extension agent," whose duties will include all three branches of agricultural extension work, according to an announcement made today by Gordon W. Randlett, director of the North Dakota Extension division.

"We are putting into operation a new plan of organization," explained Mr. Randlett. "Hitherto agricultural extension work has been split into three classes, for men, women and juniors, and carried on by three different types of field agents the county agricultural agent, club agent and home demonstration agent, whose efforts have been directed by three state leaders. Some counties have employed one of these types of agents, some two, and others three. The result is that in some counties extension work has been carried on for men only, in others for juniors only, and in some, for just the women."

"Under the new plan, the county extension agent will carry on all three types of work in proportion to the demand from the residents of his county. In most counties we have had a demand for all three types of work, but as a rule the county commissioners have felt that they could not afford to hire all three types of agents. We believe the new plan of organization will give a much better balanced program of agricultural extension work in each county where an agent is employed. Counties with large areas or dense populations may employ assistants to the county extension agent, and it is anticipated that a number will do so."

"The personnel in the state office will remain the same, but changes have been made in the duties of the various individuals, principally the elimination of the offices of state county agent leader, state club leader and state home demonstration leader. The corps of specialists who help the county extension agent will be known as state extension agents. They include two agents in farm management, two in clothin two in human nutrition, and one each in agronomy, dairying, poultry, animal management, pathology, animal health, livestock and marketing."

"The work of supervising field agents will be divided into two classes—business administration and project work. John W. Haw, former state county agent leader, will be the state leader in business administration. He will be assisted by N. D. Gorman, former assistant county agent leader. The state supervisor of projects for men's work will be H. A. Willson, former Cass county agricultural agent. Mrs. Myrtle G. Cole, former state home demonstration leader, will be state supervisor of women's work and Henry E. Rilling, former state club leader, will have supervision of the junior work."

ASK U. S. HELP IN FINANCING WHEAT CROP

Immediate Action Is Urged At Conference of Governor in Fargo

Conference Would Aid European Importers of American Wheat

SEE WALKOUT END

Washington, Sept. 13.—Confidence was expressed today in close touch with the rail-strike situation that action would be taken soon at the Chicago meeting of strike leaders which would go far toward ending the walkout of shopmen which became effective July 1.

High administration officials are watching the meeting in Chicago of the shop crafts general policy committee and by those officials the belief was expressed that action was a matter of hours.

Although most officials were reluctant to discuss the nature of the action expected to be taken by the strike committee it was learned they have advised that proposals for separate settlements with between 50 and 55 roads, including some of the larger systems, are under consideration by members of the policy committee. The proposals as understood here to follow along lines of an agreement drafted by B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen, and Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Jewell moved to Devils Lake, N. D., in 1919. He was vice-president of the First National bank of Bismarck and vice-president of the Northern Investment company of Devils Lake.

Second that a committee should go to Washington to take up with federal officials there some plan of assisting foreign nations in financing their imports, to the end that more wheat may be sold at export.

The conference is now in its second day, facing the wheat grower because of the low market prices and the necessity of perfecting a system of marketing for future years to insure a just return or the wheat crop.

Although B. M. Jewell, chief strike leader, and his associates declined to comment on prospects as the meeting convened, Mr. Jewell said the union chiefs "hoped to get somewhere" yesterday, when their meeting was "unfortunately interrupted."

The interruption was made by a janitor, who singlehanded, broke up the meeting of shop craft leaders at a critical stage of the proceedings. The janitor told the railroad men they would have to "clear out" so he could clean up for a night meeting.

Appeals for a few minutes grace were stubbornly resisted by the janitor and the railroad men "cleared out" to return again today.

With rumors afloat for more than a week of impending settlements on as many as sixty roads favoring the plan, Mr. Jewell and his associates persistently declined to comment on the reports. The same reticence was maintained by strike leaders during the early stages of the meetings of the executive council and the police committee.

Hold Strike in Abeyance

Assurance was given the executive council by R. J. Tallon, head of the Canadian Shop men, that workers on Canadian railways would hold their strike call abeyance pending

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWS-PAPER (Established 1873)

LONG, LONG AGO

Do you ever wonder how modern life compares with long ago in America, when grandpa was a lad? Turn back 82 years and see whether you would exchange places.

Times were hard in 1839. The United States Bank, having overextended in cotton, was forced to suspend operations. The failure involved only $2,000,000 in deposits, but it precipitated a financial panic in which over 400 banks were obliged to close, many of them for good.

Congress, as usual, shot off on a tangent and got interested in something else. It raised a cyclone of oratory against the "barbarity" of using a pack of bloodhounds that had been imported from Cuba to track down Seminole Indians in Florida. Before the talking subsided, the dogs were abandoned as inefficient.

The cheer-up crew told the nation that its hope for prosperity was in foreign trade. Great elation when Messrs. Baldwin, Vail & Huffy announced that their Philadelphia plant had received orders for several locomotives for English railroads.

It was in 1839 that Charles Goode perfected his process of vulcanizing rubber. Another inventive sensation for the year was furnished by Prof. John William Draper of University of New York, who announced he had made "the first photographic portrait ever taken from life."

W. F. Harlan, Boston plunger, started the first express service in 1839, carrying packages between his city and New York.

The wilderness was far from conquered. In Florida the Indians were on the warpath, a bounty of $200 on their heads.

A row broke out between England and America over the boundary of Maine. Regulars were rushed to the border and after a winter's "persuasion" succeeded in calming the Maine farmers, who had decided to settle the argument with their rifles.

A marvel of 1839 was that the cost of running the national government was less than $38,000,000 for the year. The national debt then was a trifle under $12,000,000.

Otherwise, the year 1839 was uneventful, except for customary trouble with Mexico. Still, there's a certain glamour about those old days, and maybe the reason we moderns sometimes complain that life is dull is because so many sensational things happen that we are becoming jaded.

Life today is a carnival—very interesting at first, then tiresome after a while, the spectators wanting to get away where it's quiet. There is such a thing as life being superinteresting that it's dull. Extremes meet.

GARCIA

In San Francisco a retired army officer gets the Distinguished Service Cross for an act of heroism nearly a fourth of a century ago.

He is Andrew S. Rowan, the man who "carried the message to Garcia." War had broken out between American and Spain. President McKinley wanted to get a letter to Garcia, Cuban rebel leader, address unknown. Rowan didn't ask any questions, but tackled and overcame terrible obstacles and "delivered the good."

He was the original "go-getter." His fame has been sung over 20 languages—an universal admission that stalling on the job is a certain road to failure. We all know the price of success. Few are willing to pay it.

CIGARETS

Cigaret smoking, after a long and steady slump, is coming back strongly. American factories now are turning out packaged "coffin-nails" at the rate of 60,000,000,000 a year, or nearly two-thirds more than last February.

One reason is lower prices brought by the price-war.

Nerves also have something to do with it. Is a man nervous because he smokes, or does he smoke because he's nervous? Doctors disagree.

CORWEBS

Bootleggers rejoice. Some genius has discovered how to manufacture artificial cobwebs.

A stock of new wine, bottle with mildewed counterfeit labels, is planted in the cellar of a wealthy family, new out of town, who want to dispose of their wine cellar."

A few handfuls of dust, a little artistic damping with the phoney cobwebs, and another rum-hound is ready to be parted from his bankroll. Barnum was right.

WOMAN

Ben Franklin's great-great-granddaughter, Mrs. Ellen Dunn Davis, runs for Congress on the Democratic ticket, in Pennsylvania. If she is anything like old Ben—and she looks as sensible in her 112th—she should be elected. What this country needs most is a few horse-sense leaders of the caliber of Ben Franklin and Thomas Jefferson. They weren't fire-eaters or shadow-boxers.

FEET

As tight shoes and higher heels come back in the east, shoe store clerks discover that loose and easy flapper styles have made women's feet fat.

The job now is to get a quarter foot into a pint-shoe. It will be done. Fashion stops at nothing in its long-range tendency to keep women clad as uncomfortably as possible.

The return of wasp-waists is not many years off.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

AN INTERESTING SIDELIGHT

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, has an interesting thing to say regarding the condition of the motive apparatus of the line he represents. He declares that while this condition is not what it was when the strike went into effect on July 1, it is very much improved over what it was when the government turned back the railroads of the country on February 29, 1920. The Great Northern then had, he says, 26 locomotives in reserve compared with over a hundred reserve locomotives in good working order now. This comparison is a significant comment on government control as compared with private control, although President Budd apparently was not seeking to establish any disparagement parallels of that kind.

During its regime, a railroad the government did not have a general strike of shippers or others to contend with. It paid big wages to railroad employees and it had more of them than were found necessary under private control, but with these supposed advantages it failed to prevent a general demoralization of railroad equipment.

The present showing as to locomotives compared with that of two and a half years ago on the Great Northern, as set forth by Mr. Budd, is made in the face of a strike that had been in progress for longer than seven weeks.

Calling attention to these things at this time might not be appropriate for the fact that there is a considerable group in this country that would like to substitute government ownership and operation. Some of this group have been counting on the present disturbance to bring about a realization of their hopes.—Minneapolis Tribune.

SCANDAL POINT UNTOUCHED

Whether as defender or apologist, no better, able and more convincing advocate than Secretary Hughes could have been selected to take the Newberry case and make the attempt to turn back the tide of public opinion which has been adverse from the beginning. For the people have faith in Secretary Hughes' faith in his honesty and sincerity, personal and political—and will accept his conclusions in a case of which their own knowledge is vague and general at best.

Obviously the Republican National committee appreciates that the Newberry case is a very damaging party liability; and it takes no stretch of imagination to conceive that the letter of inquiry addressed to Secretary Hughes might have been arranged to draw out the review in which the Michigan Senator is given a clean bill of health. The next step will be to deluge the country with the admittedly able and zealous endeavor to acquit the partisan vote by which Senator Newberry was seated.

It will be conceded Secretary Hughes makes out a strong legal case for Newberry, but after all it is doubtful whether the moral aspects of the case have been changed or improved. Senator Newberry was acquitted by a reversal finding of the Supreme Court, but the fact that large sums of money were spent in his election never was and never could be denied. Whether he spent it personally and whether he knew and approved of the expenditures figured strongly in the legal aspect, but not at all in the moral aspect of the case. He got the vote necessary to elect him, the court exculpated him on legal grounds and the Senate voted him his seat. Practically this is what Secretary Hughes points out that Senator Newberry personally was not guilty.

But what Mr. Hughes does not deny is that a lavish and unusual sum of money was made in the Newberry election. That is what sticks in the public consciousness. On offense was committed against the morality of the ballot box, even though it was an offense which no angle of the law can reach.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Balm by Seidel
(By the Associated Press)

Minneapolis, Sept. 12—Todd W. Lewis, broker, was made the defendant today in a $200,000 alienation suit filed in Hennepin county district court by Paul R. Seidel, former husband of Mrs. Lewis. The case is scheduled to go into court October 9.

In answer to the complaint attorney for Lewis stated that the former Mrs. Seidel obtained a divorce from Seidel at Reno, Nevada, December 17, 1919, after eight months residence there.

Seidel bases his complaint on the charge that the divorce was not legally granted because his former wife was not a bona fide resident of Reno.

OH, WHAT A RELIEF, WITH THOSE THREE KIDS IN SCHOOL!

a ticket and boarded a train for Sheridan, Wyoming. She had been unattended and plainly under the stress of strong emotion.

What Ethel had told Barney was brief and simple in its final statement.

Barney:

"I have found that I must leave at once for my home. Some time later, I shall know how to explain what must seem madness to you."

"Where you are and how you are and what you are doing remain with me the most important things in my life, so you must let me know all about yourself. My address will be Sheridan, Wyoming."

"ETHEL"

It was several days later that Mrs. Wain, the housekeeper, phoned a request for him to call.

"I speak to you, sir," Mrs. Wain said breathlessly, after she had sunk into the seat, "upon my own responsibility, sir, entirely. So I must ask you, before I say another word, to give me your word as a gentleman that you will make no use of what I shall tell—unless I allow you."

Barney felt his pulse pounding again. "What is it?" he demanded.

"You will meet me, sir—when you're sure you're not followed?"

"Where?"

"At the corner of Tenth and Washash."

Barney went immediately downtown. He had to wait at the corner only a few minutes before Mrs. Wain drove up in a taxi and invited him in.

"St. Luke's Hospital," said he to the driver; and when the door was closed, she vowed herself to Barney. She had another operation; it was performed the day before yesterday. She rallied at first but sank later.

Still the housekeeper gave no intimation of who "she" was; and Barney was aware that direct inquiry would be vain.

Barney did not know her; when the nurse, who had been beside the bed, moved away, and Mrs. Wain held back and Barney advanced alone, he was not conscious of ever having seen the woman who lay on her side with her profile plain against the pillow. Yet a fluttering of awe—of more than awe—came over him as he halted silently beside the bed.

Her face, as she lay turned toward him, was beautiful, though illness and intense suffering she had surely endured. Her skin was clear and lovely even in its deathly pallor; her hair—black and abundant—had clung to its luster as had her dark brows and the lashes which lay on her cheek. Even now the indomitable soul of her—at essence of her spirit which persisted though consciousness long gone—was keeping up the fight, Barney felt. And he wanted her to win; oh, how he wanted her to win!

It seemed to him he had never wished so for another's life; and why? Because, for the first time, he was beside some one who belonged to him by blood? Because she was his—Mother

"IF" WILL BE WAIL OF ALL THOSE WHO RELAX EFFORTS

Winners of The Tribune's $10,000 Cash Prize Campaign Will Be Decided Next Saturday Night: Many Subscribers Lengthening Previous Orders and These Are Proving Valuable Sources of Votes

"Of all sad words—the saddest are those which never were spoken." "If I had only taken advantage of the opportunity period." "I might have had one of the prizes if I had only worked a little harder." "Don't leave any reason for self-accusation when the final result is announced. Do your level best right now while there is still time."

Saturday, at midnight, the greatest opportunity period of the Tribune's campaign will come to an end. A wonderful offer will close at that hour; the third largest extra vote offer.

Let every candidate realize that this is the only remaining extra vote offer of the campaign and that never again will subscriptions bring them as great a benefit as now.

It is hardly necessary to call the attention of the wise candidates to the reason for taking the full advantage of this extra vote offer, for they know that the votes they are able to secure now may be the very ones which will determine their right to Hudson sedans or one of the four other motor cars.

Extra Effort Needed.

The idea of these extra vote offers is to furnish an incentive to candidates to put forth just a little more effort than they would if there was not this special feature to work for, and that is exactly the effect these offers have on the candidates, and for that reason, the worker who does not take the fullest advantage of each of them is apt to lose ground while his or her competitors are forging to the front.

There is not one of your competitors who have a lead that can not be overcome by a little determined effort on your part, and the time for that effort is now. Don't sit back, fold your hands and think you can win yourself into possession of one of the prize cars—but you can work yourself into possession of one of them and the time to do that work is today.

Do Not Let Work Lag.

This period has always been the one during which the candidates have seen to it that their work did not lag, for many a temporary gain under the third largest extra vote offer has been made permanent by good, hard, conscientious efforts.

Today, Mr. Charles Owen has again taken the lead over the entire field, for the $2,820 Hudson sedan, with increased standing, and Miss Alice Kooker of Dawson has first place in her district.

With the end of the campaign still closer, you must not relax your efforts, nor lose courage, for this is the most critical period of the entire race, and to give up now would be to lose all opportunity of becoming the winner of one of the motor cars.

Vote Value to Decrease.

Until Saturday, 9 o'clock, subscriptions will be worth more votes than they will be at any time after that. Doesn't that statement fire you with necessity for prompt and decisive action?

Every subscription you send in before Saturday, 9 o'clock, is going to widen the gap between you and your competitors and will make you hard to catch for the reason that the decrease in votes will place you with the next period will place a handicap on your rivals.

Extension payments are providing a valuable source of votes for many candidates and subscribers who paid The Tribune for only a short period, when the campaign started, and can be glad to renew their subscriptions for a longer period, if approached, and this is what candidates are promised: catchy music, good fast comedy, pretty girls, and stunning clothes, all of which are some of the good and sufficient reasons why "Take It From Me" is not complaining at the high cost of living, railroad fares, etc., etc., a condition which has become a common plaint with producers endeavoring to sell mediocre wares.

Tobacco-growing was forbidden in England for centuries.

YANKEES WIN THEIR BATTLE FOR PENNANT

BY BILLY EVANS.
The Pacific Coast League apparently is only just step below major class.

Three brief seasons ago the Cincinnati Reds won the National pennant and that historic world series. On that team was in infield which was regarded as one of the most brilliant in the league.

Jake Daubert was on first, Morris Ruth on second, Larry Kopf on short, Heinie Grob at third.

But all of a sudden there came a great change.

Ruth passed out one year later, Kopf was the next to go. And when Heinie Grob became dissatisfied, with John J. McGraw offering a fortune, the third member of the world champion infield departed.

Vacancies Well Filled.

That left three vacancies for Manager Pat Moran to fill. He filled them, according to close followers of the National League, with players fully the equal of those who won the 1910 pennant.

Daubert remains, but today he is associated with three Pacific Coast League products. They are Sammy Bohne from Seattle, Babe Pinello from Oakland and Caveney from San Francisco.

Bohne reminds Cincinnati fans of "Buddy" McPhee. "Buddy" was regarded as the star of all star second basemen, and although one candidate after another attempted to fill his position they say McPhee remained unequalled until Bohne came along.

Just Like Honus.

Bohne has been a tower of strength to Moran on the far corner.

And don't forget that while youth comes and goes, Jake Daubert, who has just passed his thirty-seventh birthday, remains.

Now Comes The Football Season

SONIA JOY OF GREENWICH NEAR DEATH

New York, Sept. 13.—Greenwich Village, that Bohemian center regarded as a perpetual fountain of mirth, for a time was threatened with its little tragedy, but now the tale has taken a new turn and the happy ending is in sight.

A few weeks ago, Sonia the Cigarette girl was stricken desperately ill. Heart disease, a strange form, the doctors said.

For weeks she lay in a hospital ward, pale and wan. And very lonely was Sonia, for she found that her village friends, the poets and painters who laughed with her and blew bubbles rings with her in cellar and garret, had deserted her.

On the walls were none of the gay tapetries, the paintings and the sketches in which she delighted. The sounds which came to her were ominous sounds, lacking the music and laughter which to her had constituted life.

Sonia is only in her twenties. Youth rebels at grim hospital walls and white-clad doctors and nurses, with their stethoscopes and mysterious charts.

But now doctors say that Sonia has won her fight—that soon she will be discharged.

Everybody knows Sonia in the village. In her smock and sandals, she could be seen any day walking bare-headed through the alleys of the Latin Quarter, shaking her bobbed-head violently when engaged in argument over Belles Lettres or the theories of Freud.

Sonia—she has a last name but in the village she is known only as Sonia—is a Bohemian. Thousands of out-of-towners who have visited the village have seen her slipping from table to table in the fantastic tearooms which the village boasts, coaxing the merry-makers into buying a package of her cigarettes.

Sonia is versatile. Now she would make a little money at one thing, at other times at another. Sometimes she would make nothing at all.

Once she went to Boston and there staged a Bohemian dance largely attended by Harvard undergraduates. Arrangements went a bit awry, the dance was not wholly a success, and the police reserves had to be called.

A few months ago she opened a little shop of her own in the village. To her stock of cigarettes she added erudite tomes and fanciful batiks.

Then she was attacked.

Youth acquaintances tried to find her family. They were all dead, she said. She smiled mysteriously whenever she was asked whence she had hailed. She just appeared one day in the village. Tradition has it that her homeland was Russia.

"It isn't so much that I'm down and out," she said bravely. "It's that the village folks don't come to see me. They might send me word or have dropped in to see me before they went."

"Yes, I know, the village is away-

Only A Few Days Left To Can Peaches, Pears, Plums

DO your canning now or you will be disappointed. Make sure of having a delightful variety of delicious, wholesome, home-made preserves, jams, jellies, pickles, etc., to relieve the monotony of winter meals. Your family and guests will appreciate fruits you put up yourself at home.

The money-saving alone makes it worth-while, too. Avoid the extravagant of factory-canned fruits—save one-third to one-half by canning your own. Fill up your Ball Mason jars now—get more if necessary—be sure to can enough peaches, pears and plums to last you till next season.

Never Mind the Engagement.

"You let that young man kiss you, and yet you're not engaged?"

"Yes."

"I should think you'd be ashamed of yourself."

"Not at all. What's the use of becoming engaged to a young man you're only going to see for two weeks during the summer?"

It seems as though marriage really requires a course in preparatory school.

Canned Peaches

Remove skins by allowing peaches to remain for 1 or 2 minutes in boiling water. The skins will then come off very readily. Pack into sterilized jars either whole or in halves or quarters. The addition of 1 or 2 peach stones, where the stones have been removed, adds a flavor.

Fill up the jars with fruit juice, syrup, made according to directions. From 1 to 2 cups of sugar to 8 cups of water is the usual proportion. Place rubber gaskets in position and screw on caps tightly and cover slightly loose. Sterilize 15 minutes by the cold pack method.

News of the Markets

SLIGHT RISE
IN WHEAT ON EARLY DEALS

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Wheat moved upward a little, prices today being the only decline in the chief factor being an advance in Liverpool quotations despite heavier yesterday on this of the Atlantic. Good export buying here yesterday tended also to encourage bullish sentiment and so to do smallness of receipts at winter wheat points. Bears put stress mainly on continuance of heavy receipts in Canada. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 1/4 higher with December $1.01 to $1.01 1/4 and May $1.06 to $1.06 1/4 was followed by slight gains all around.

Corn and oats reflected the wheat advance. After opening a shade to 1/4 up, December 56 1/4 @ 56 1/4 to 57 1/4, the corn market sagged somewhat but then made a general upturn.

Oats started a shade off to a like advance, December 34 1/4 @ 34 1/4 to 34 3/4, and later showed a rise for all deliveries.

Provisions were firm in line with hogs and grain.

Although wheat averaged higher in value today, the market turned heavy near the end of the board of trade session, aggressive support becoming lacking. The close was even at the same as yesterday's finish to 1/4 lower, with December $1.00 1/4 to $1.00 1/4, and May $1.05 1/4 to $1.05 1/4.

Estimates were current that exporters had taken 2,000,000 bushels of United States hard winter wheat in the last few days, an amount much larger than was heretofore generally supposed. Buying of future deliveries, however, gave out just before the close.

Later, the market receded as a result of sales to go to store here. The close was easy, a shade not lower to the advance, with December 56 1/4.

NEWS OF WALL STREET

(By the Associated Press)

New York, Sept. 13.—The upward swing of prices was resumed in today's stock market, elevations low-priced oils and specialties leading the advance. New high records for the year were made in the first few minutes of trading by Baldwin, Railway Steel Springs, American Locomotive, Pressed Steel Car, Iron Products, National Biscuit, and American Water Works, six percent preferred, the gains ranging from fractions to 3 points. Other strong spots were Barnsdall "A" New York Air Brake and Hartman Corporation, each of which were up 2 points or more, and Colorado Fuel and Iron, Consolidated Gas, Tobacco Products, Norfolk and Western, Studebaker, Pierce-Arrow, preferred, and Mexican Petroleum, all of which had mounted at least a point over last night's close. Allied Chemical was the only conspicuous weak spot, declining a point.

Speculative selling of the Erie issues frightened some of the holders of other low priced and investment rails, resulting in a reactionary trend in several stocks of that group. Erie common was down 1/2 and the preferred 2%, while St. Paul, Reading, Atlantic Coast Line, and New Haven dropped one to one and one half points. There was no curtailment, however, of investment and speculative buying in the rest of the list, gains of one to three points being quite numerous. The early turnover gave promise of another day in excess of 1,000,000 shares. Public utilities, oils, equipments, tobaccos and leathers were mostly in demand, some of the strong spots including Columbia Gas, Division Chemical, Hendee Mfg., Iron Products, American Sumatra, New York Dock, common and preferred, and Central Leather, all of which gained in value excepting the preferred, which advanced 4 points. Call money opened at 4 percent.

Afternoon dealings were irregular as a result of traders shifting commitments from one group to another. Gas, food and shipping issues were marking up materially while profit taking depressed the steel, equipments, Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum and American Woolen. Recessions ran to a point or more in many cases. Jones Brothers Tea gained four points, Jewell Tea, preferred, Pacific Gas and Electric, Columbia Gas and Iron Uroducts 3, and North America, Twin City Transit, Air Reduction, Postum Cereal and Republic Steel 2 to 2 1/2.

Indications that the buying power had largely spent itself encouraged bear pressure and active profit taking in the final hour which depressed many stocks from 1 to 4 points below their earlier top figures. A subsequent marking up of Atchison, some of the domestic oils and a few specialties, resulted in a confused movement. The closing was irregular.

Taking advantage of an apparently weak and technical position, professional bear traders, aided by extensive realising sales, succeeded in effectively checking the dull movement in today's stock market, many shares yielding substantially below yesterday's closing figures. Railroad stocks were particularly vulnerable. Sales approximated 1,100,000 shares.

UNSETTLED TONE
(By the Associated Press)

Minneapolis, Sept. 13.—The cash wheat had an unsettled tone today, but most of the wheat sold about the same price that prevailed late Tuesday. Demand for the best stuff was ready enough, but the medium class quality was inclined to be more drab. Durum wheat demand was slower and prices were weaker compared with futures. Winter wheat opened steady but turned easier later.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ASK EMPLOYMENT

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 13—Students at the North Dakota Agricultural College here, who, though force of circumstances are compelled to earn all or part of their way through school this year will be given assistance by several Fargo organizations. The Fargo Commercial club is mailing out circular letters to all business and professional men in the city, explaining the situation that confronts many prospective students in their quest for an education. Those who will be able to use additional help in any capacity are requested to fill out a blank giving the character of the help desired and the estimated amount of work, and to return the blank to the club secretary. In this way it is hoped to have an accurate and complete record of places where employment may be secured when the institution opens, September 25.

While prospects for a good crop will reduce the number of students who are dependent upon part time positions, those in charge of the work feel, still the low price of farm products will be reflected in many cases. Already nearly one hundred students have made inquiry regarding the possibilities of work during the school year, according to college officials.

In addition to the Commercial Club, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will assist in placing students. The Y. W. C. A. has already several places on its list for girls who are willing to do general housework in return for their board and room and in some instances a small salary.

N. D. CARRIERS 22 MILLIONS BETTER OFF

Railroads of North Dakota were almost twenty-one million dollars better off at the end of July 1922 than they were at the end of July 1921, according to a statement of the surplus after taxes have been provided for published in the Financial and Commercial Chronicle of New York City. The four roads which have the largest mileage in North Dakota are the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Great Northern, The Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie and the Northern Pacific.

In 1921 at the end of August the Milwaukee had a half a million surplus over taxes at the end of August. The Great Northern was three-fourths of a million in the hole, the Soo was a cool two million dollars behind and the Northern Pacific was failing to meet its charges for the year by two and a half million.

Each of the roads had a little better gross earnings for 1922 over that of 1921 for the seven months for which the figures are given, but some of the increased earnings have come from a cutting down of the expenses of the road.

For Men Only

Carrying the message of prosperity for the communities which have adopted the dairy cow as a mortgage lifter, Governor R. A. Nesots has sent a letter to every banker in the state asking them to take an intelligent interest in the Dairy Week, September 25 to 30. The interest of the governor is not so much that the state send a large delegation to the National Dairy Show as that the result of the week shall be a larger interest in the community development of the dairy interest in North Dakota.

"I have just learned," says the governor in the letter, "that of the seventeen men that originally formed the circuit in New Salem, only one now has a mortgage on his farm.

The governor suggests that there be a series of conferences during the week at which each community shall consider its own special problems for working away from the one crop system.

"Believing that your are thoroughly interested in the highest development of your community," concludes the governor, "and in bringing to your community everything that will make for its welfare and economic independence, I am appealing to you to do everything in your power to have the suggested conferences called and to go over this situation from every angle, securing all available information and then deciding just what your community will be able to do. I hope also that many from your community will be able to attend the National Dairy Show at St. Paul, October 7 to 14."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the very best medicine I have ever taken for stomach disorders. I have also recommended this Golden Medical Discovery to many who have been greatly benefited by taking it."—Mrs. Mary A. Drakeley.
